

Page templates

Each level of education.nsw's information architecture has an assigned page template. Use this guide to create pages based on those rules.

Website structure

The education.nsw.gov.au site consists of 6 main page types, each with their own purpose, layout and structure.

The page structure is as follows:

- Level 0 homepage
 - Level 1 hub
 - Level 2 hub
 - Level 3 section
 - Level 4 landing page
 - Level 5 content page

This structure reflects two elements:

- the level in the information architecture (IA)
- the page template used.

Visualising the structure

The following diagram shows an example of this complex page structure. Each level in the IA reflects a different page template.

Exceptions

Level 0 will always be the homepage, and level 1 will always be a hub.

If there's not enough content to justify a level 2 hub, level 2 will become a section instead, resulting in this structure:

- Level 0 homepage
 - Level 1 hub
 - Level 2 section
 - Level 3 landing page
 - Level 4 content page.

Sometimes there will be no need for a landing page, in which case the structure will follow this pattern:

- Level 0 homepage
 - Level 1 hub

- Level 2 section
 - Level 3 content page.

Browse the page templates section for more detailed explanations of each template.

- homepage
- level 1 Hub
- level 2 Hub
- content page
- landing page
- section.
